Project Green AV- Where Green Ideas become Great Ideas- Offers New Content and Asks Tough Questions

Bohemia, NY – September 25, 2008

Join us at Project Green AV for new, enhanced content and tough questions.

The updated ProjectGreenAV.com, the source for Green Business information to the Audio Visual industry, features new government and business links that present new challenges and new opportunities as Green AV moves from trend to practice.

Project Green AV celebrates Green AV success stories with a Project Spotlight on international AV company, Grupo Tecnologico de Panama that is earning awards for making a Green difference. Links to Articles In the News and the Project Green AV Forum ask tough questions and open the conversation on solutions to meet Green Business goals. Project Green AV featured Products get the job done.

Green AV is not just about purchasing energy efficient equipment and powering down. Green AV is about changing the way the industry does business to save money, satisfy customers and improve the environment.

That's why the Project Green AV Forum asks the question "Is the Industry Rushing 'Green' Products to the Market?" Expert opinions from industry insiders who post on our Comment Board tell us if it's true.

The new Project Green AV featured topic: Green Meetings, includes information about IT/AV Integration; virtual conferencing; Green Meeting vendors; Green Strategic software; telecommuter transition How-Tos and more.

Get involved at ProjectGreenAV.com as we give you new ways to turn Green Ideas into Great Ideas.
